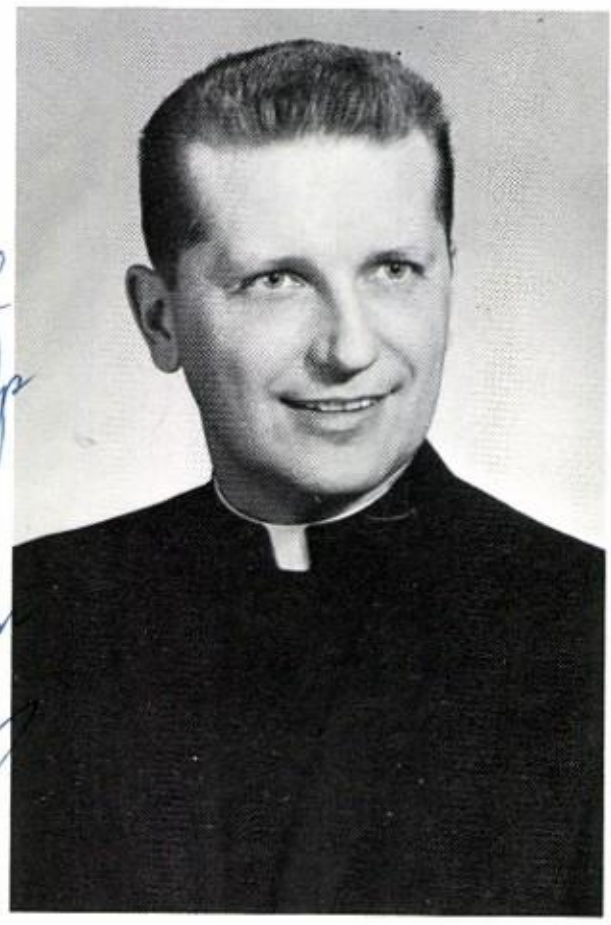
ADMINISTRATION FURTHERS THE WORK OF THE HOLY SPIRIT



Father Edward Krason

Father Krason, the principal of Bishop Dwenger High School, endeavors to mold the minds of his expanding school family. Father realizes that the future of his "citizens of two worlds" requires a large number of first rate men and women teachers. He looks forward to meeting this challenge. To all at Dwenger, Father Krason is an ideal counselor and teacher constantly available for information and help. He deserves merit for his support and guidance during 1965-1966.

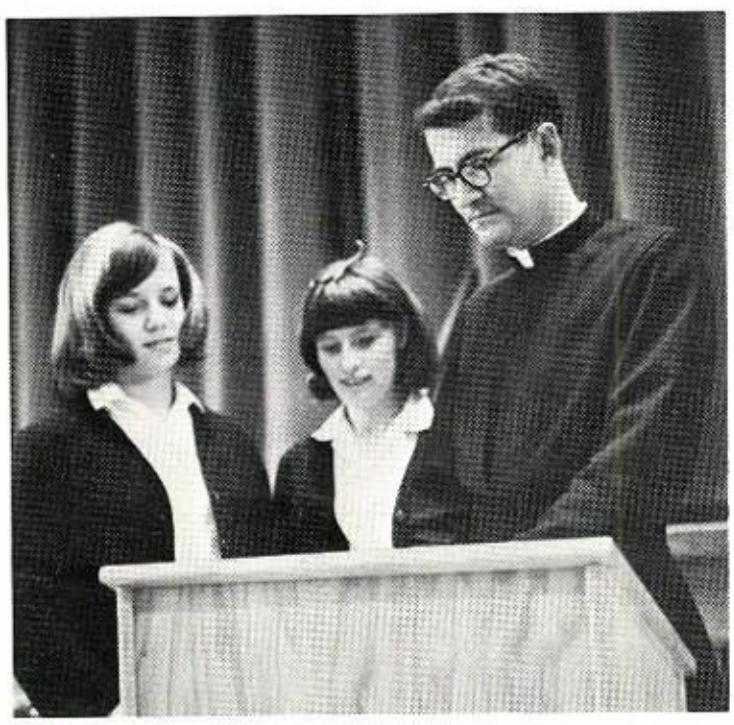
Sister M. Hedwigis, PHJC

As a member of the original staff, Sister Hedwigis, vice-principal, continues to inspire among Dwengerites a thirst for knowledge that can be related to a Christian life. In this spirit Sister accepts the responsibility or dean of girls. She realizes that merely opening a book of giving a lecture. Whether facing her students over a math desk, rostrum or office table, she sees individuals as potential leaders to be understood and loved; souls to be directed and challenged. Besides her work in administration Sister teaches math.

GIFTS OF THE HOLY SPIRIT PERMEATE

PIETY, the source of holiness, is evidenced as Dwenger class presidents and Fr. Krason pause to pray at the tomb of our school's patron, Bishop Joseph Dwenger.

Never too busy to COUNSEL inquisitive youth, Bishop Pursley interrupts his heavy schedule to talk with Dennis Kitt and Ann Parks.



FORTITUDE is the virtue of courage and patient endurance of trouble. Dwenger students are strengthened during the annual retreat. Fr. Robert Jaeger discusses his conference on practical Christianity with Pam Bowers and Jackie Hargis.

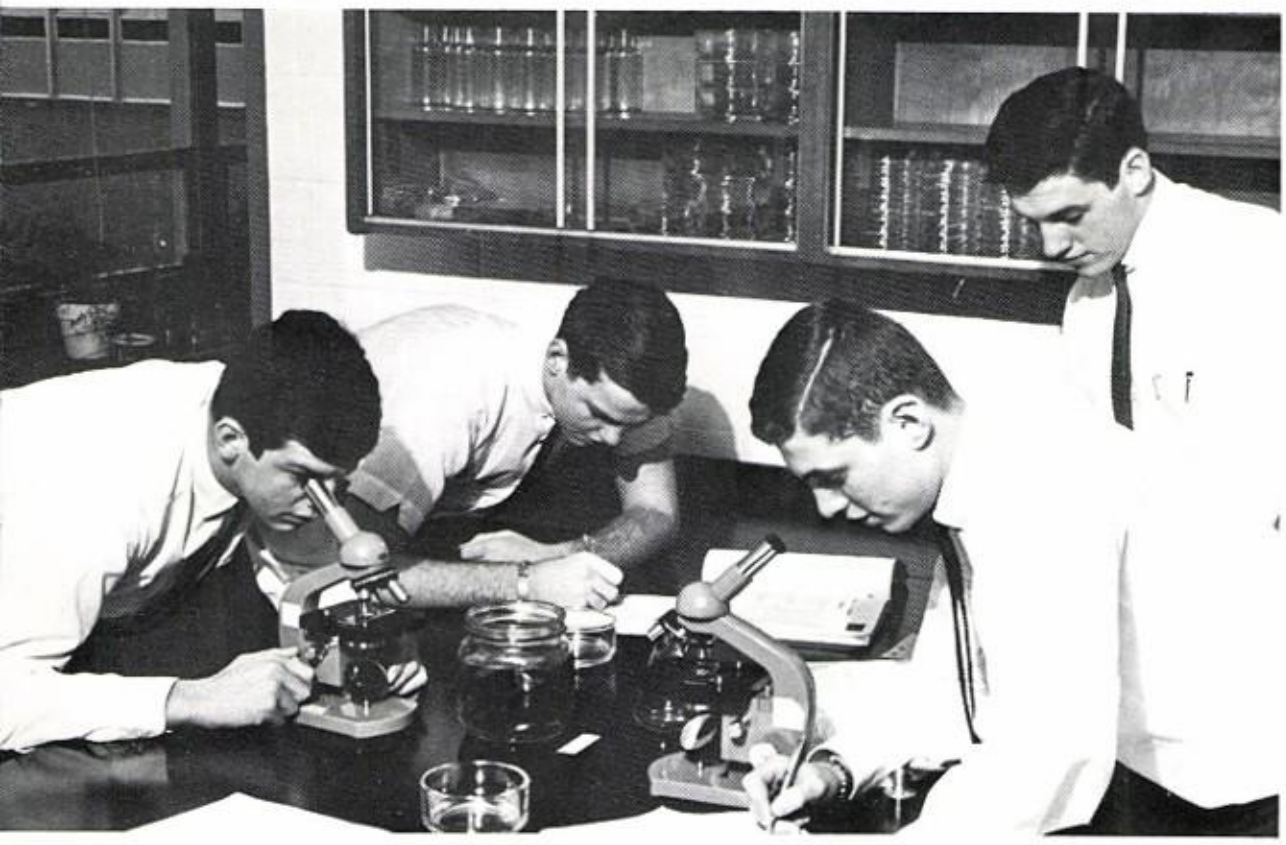
LIFE AT DWENGER HIGH . . .

"Keep up the good work!" Fr. Krason's words of WISDOM enrich the lives of Dwenger students.



Above: Future scientists Mike Arata, Jim Sweeney, Vince Bane, and Steve Fisher probe the world of amebas in search of UNDER-STANDING.
Right: The crucifix, the symbol of Christ's triumph, instills the virtue of FEAR OF THE LORD in Dwengerites. Fr. Patrick McNulty is pictured delivering his conference during retreat.

THE DUAL HEARTS OF DWENGER

THE STUDENT COUNCIL AND THE GENERAL OFFICE

The Student Council represents the entire student body in the most important functioning organization at Bishop Dwenger High School. Discussing future activities are: Sally Junk, Secretary; Mike Shields, Vice-President; Dennis Kitt, President; Chuck Graney, Treasurer; and Barbra Humphrey, Vice-President.

"Good Morning, Bishop Dwenger High School, may I help you?" With a cheerful hello and a friendly smile Sister Mary Cleone efficiently manages the general office. Besides secretarial duties Sister also is the sacristan for both the school chapel and the convent.

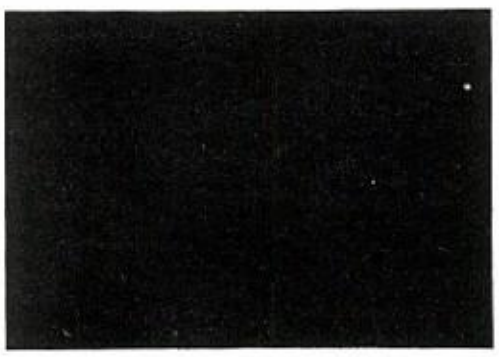
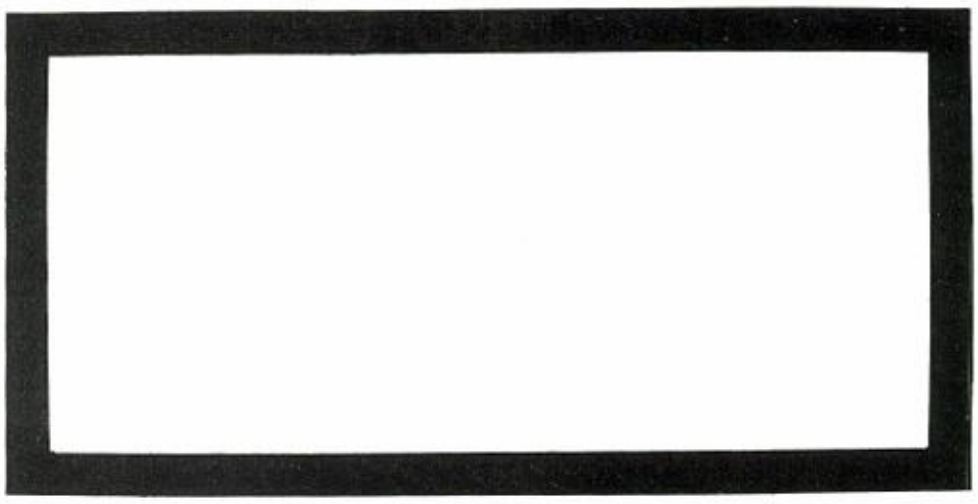
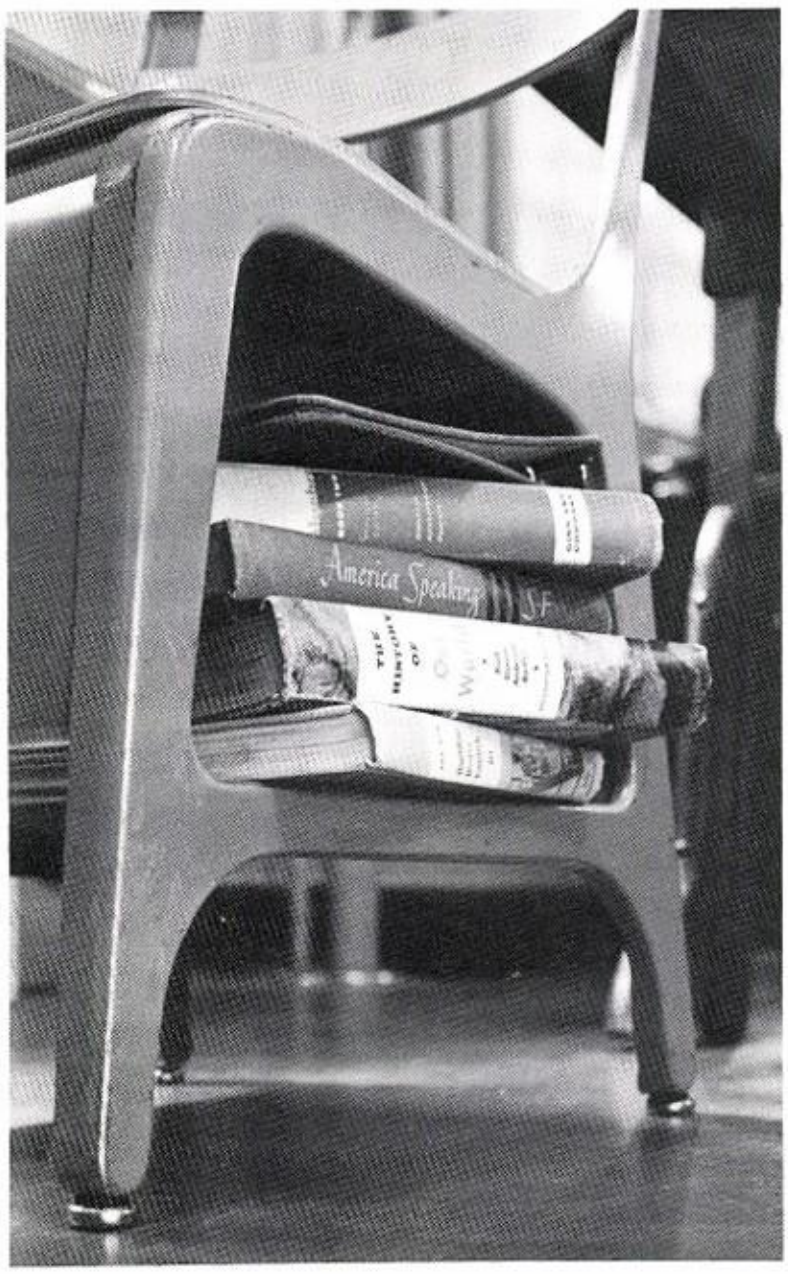
CLASSES





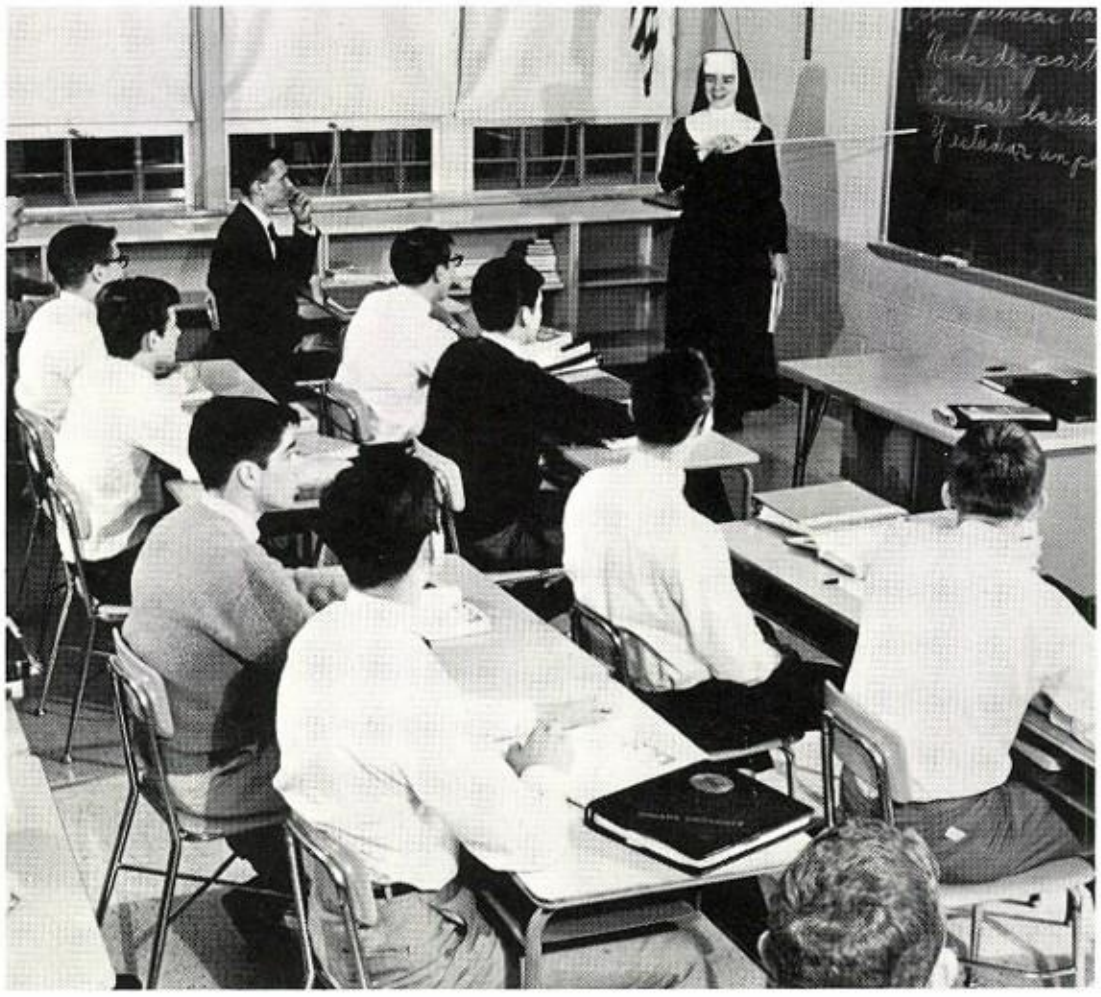


RELIGION PLAYS AN IMPORTANT ROLE IN LIFE AT DWENGER

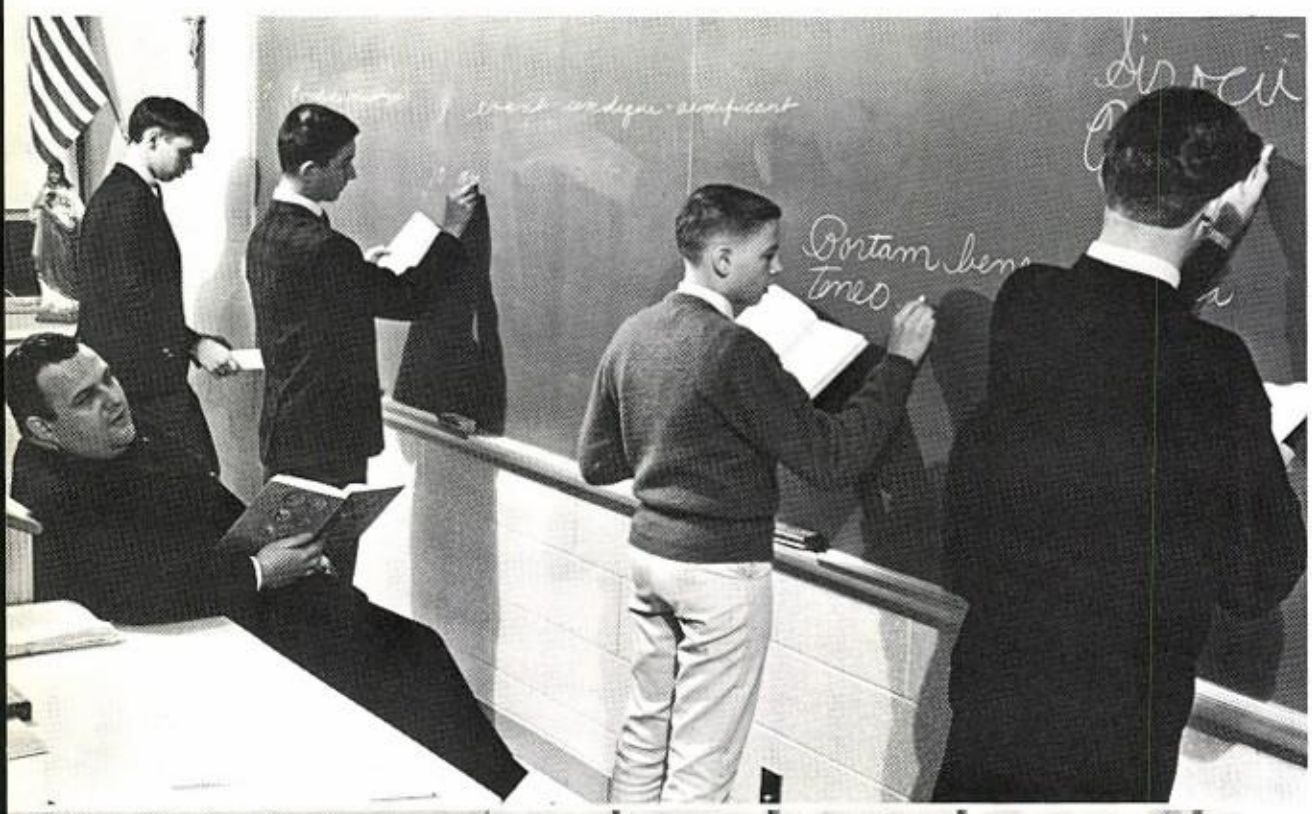
"To God, through Christ, in the Holy Spirit Spirit . . . "

Religion is interwoven in life at Dwenger. It is evidenced not only in classes, but in the availability of daily Mass and confessions, various religious clubs, and concelebrated First Friday Mass. According to Father Leonard Chrobot, head of the religion department, "Christianity must permeate the very fiber of school life." Pictured above is Father Chrobot's second period junior girls' religion class; at left, the reception ceremony for new members of the Sodality of the Immaculate Conception.

LANGUAGES . . .



Repeat it again, please! . . . a phrase often heard by boys of Sr. Cabrini's Spanish class.



Above: Meg Milbee and Fran Zbacnic speak French on the telephone. Sister Myra shows Margarita Lopez how to record the conversation. Janet Rosswurm and Michele Vance are "boning up" on their pronunciation as they wait to be recorded.

Left: "Better make that 'puer'," directs Father Isenbarger as his Latin I class writes translations on the board.

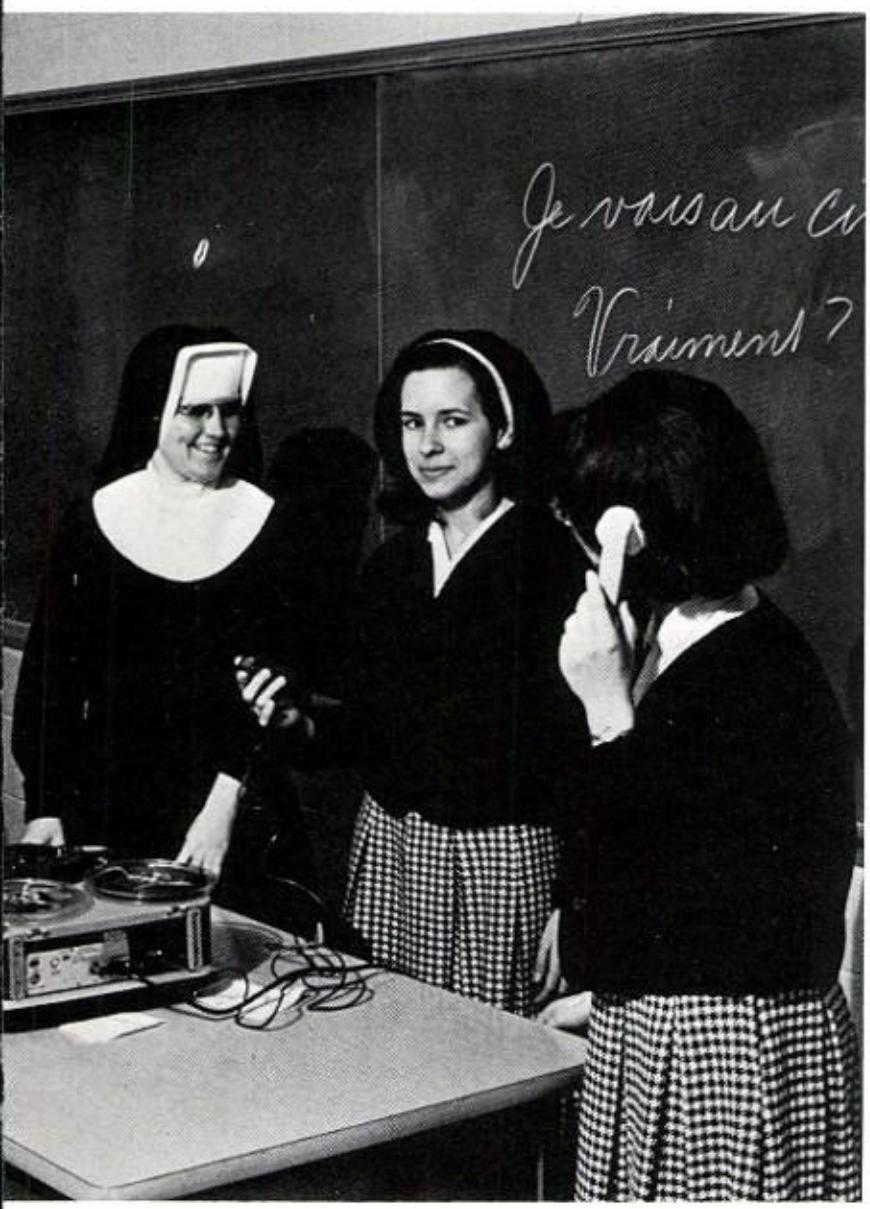
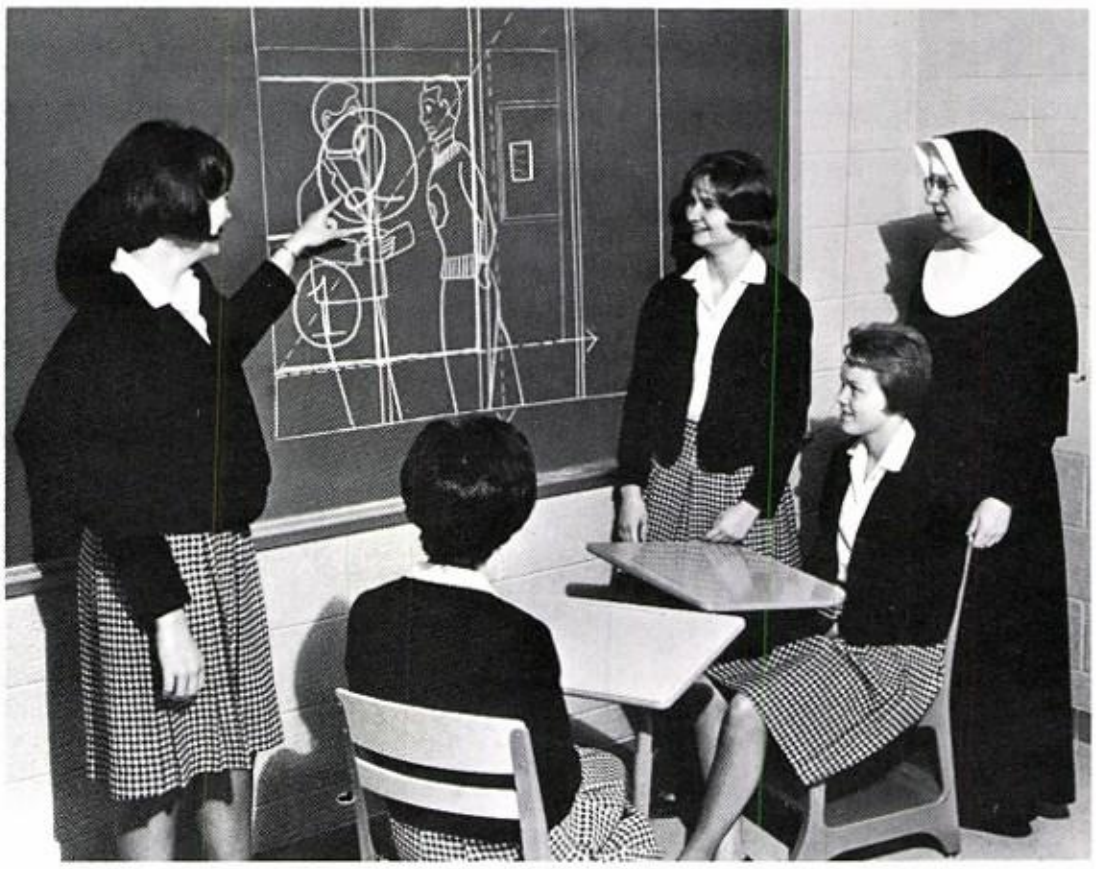
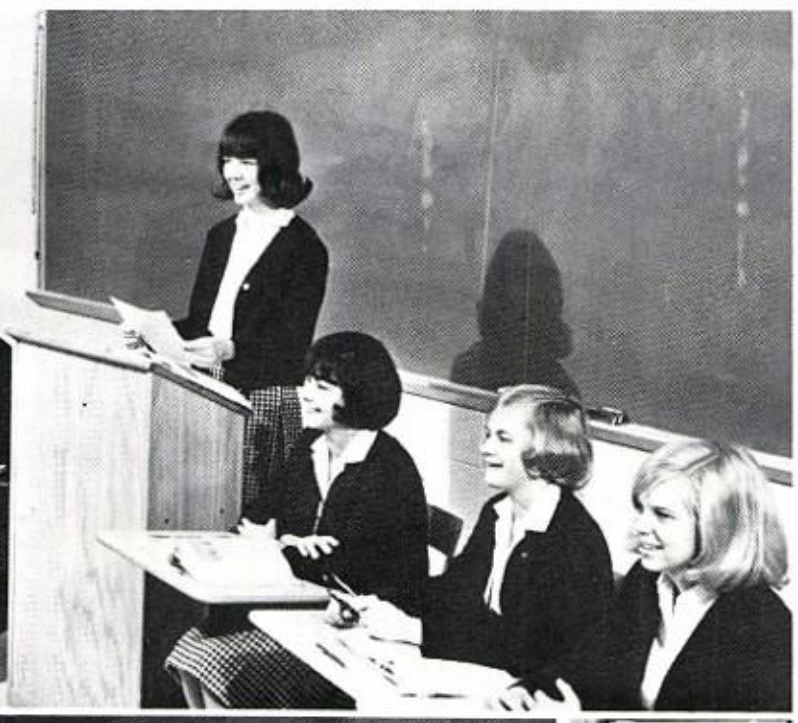
ANYONE???





"And this is how it would look across two columns," points out Karen Hazelett. Linda Christian, Lynne Rodgers, Anne Flaherty and Sister Xavier are interested spectators. The cropping and proportioning of pictures are important aspects of layouts work in journalism classes.

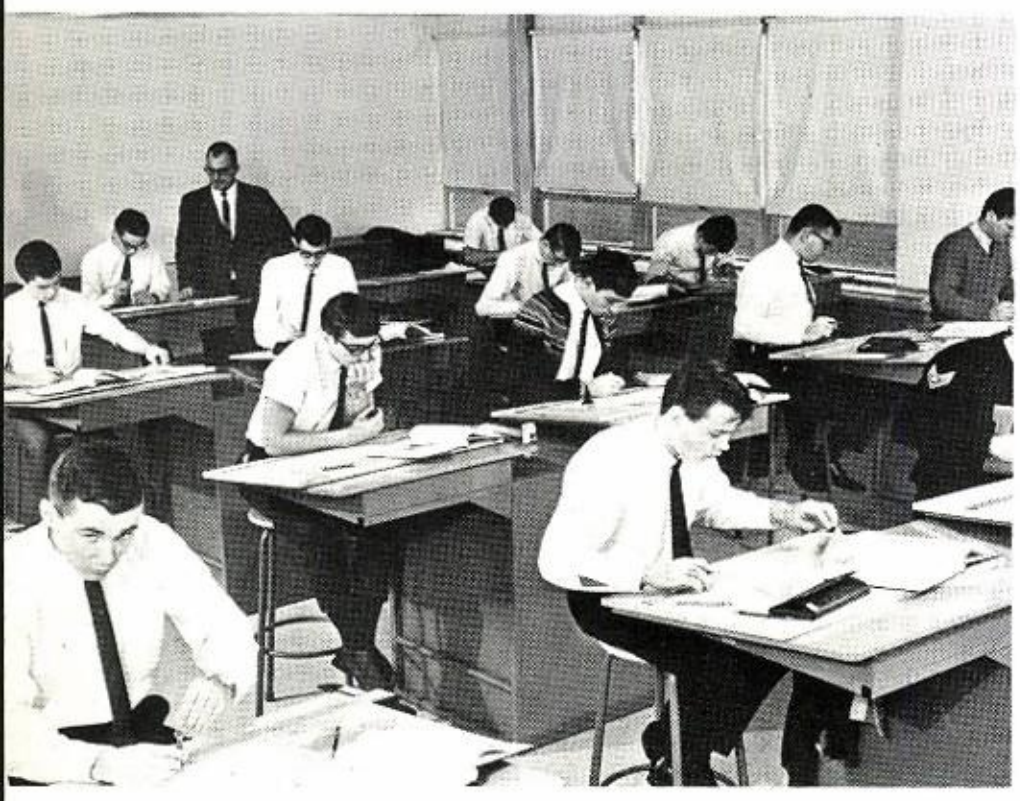


Left: Moderator, Stephanie Ringswald keeps the debate alive during Sophomore English class, under the guidance of Sr. Chantal.

Left: Discussions, talks, debates . . . all of this belongs to speech. Marianne Sive, Susie Kane, Bill Junk, Frances Mannix, Tom Lombardi and the entire speech class are held spellbound by Debbie Hartman.

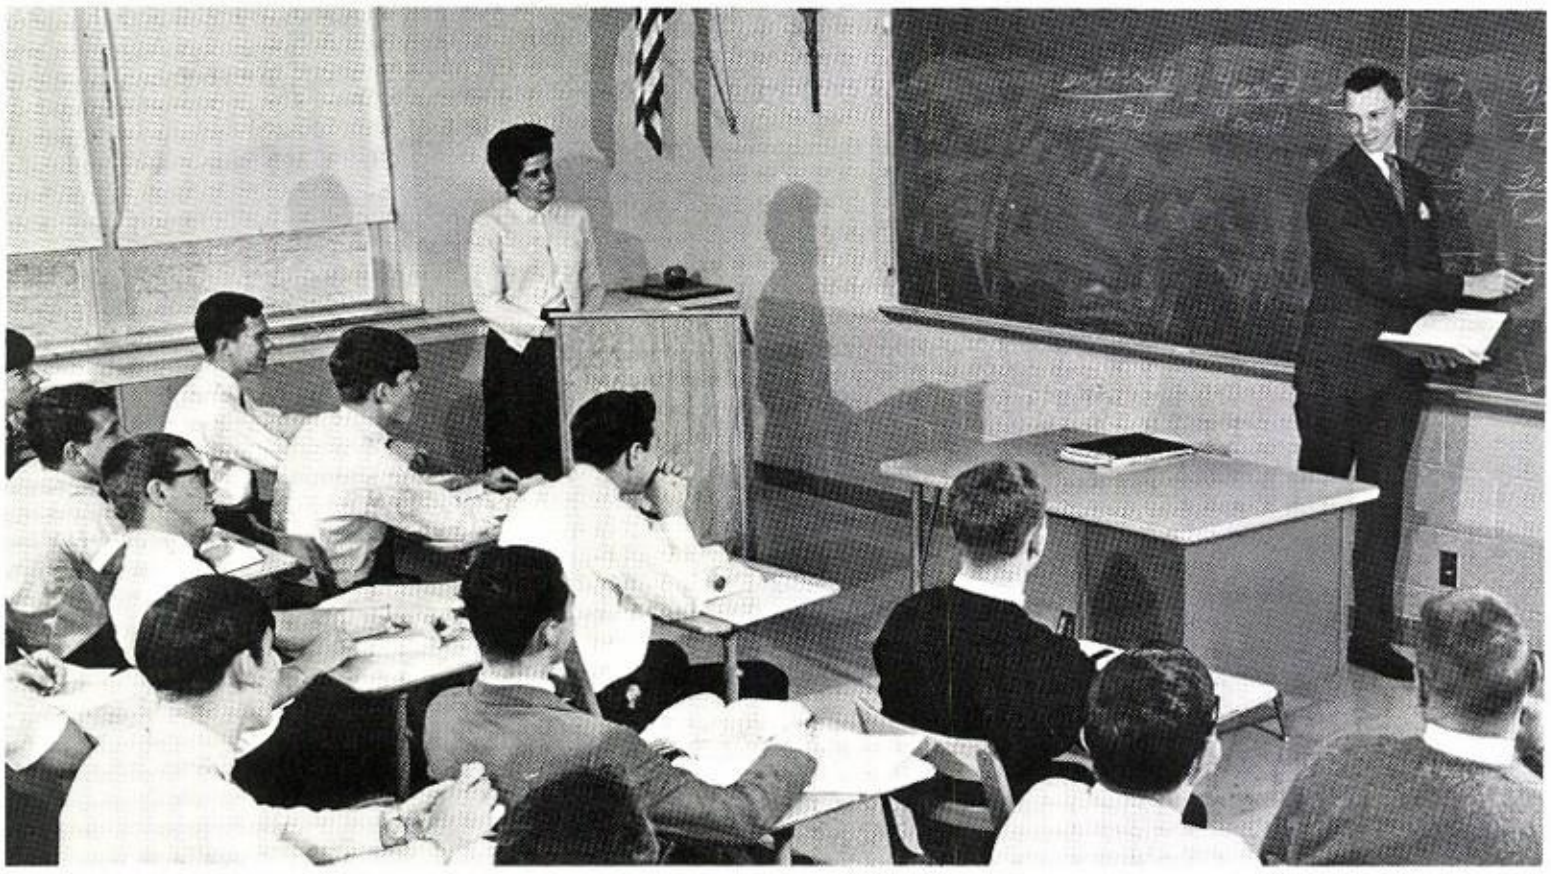
Right: This is one of the more quiet days in the chemistry lab. Mary Kay Evans, Carol Graney, Jocille Gump, and Chris Rosswurm conduct an experiment to determine the amount of oxygen in air.

Far right: Juniors Jerry Sullivan and Kent DeLucenay perform their experiment under the watchful eye of Mr. York.

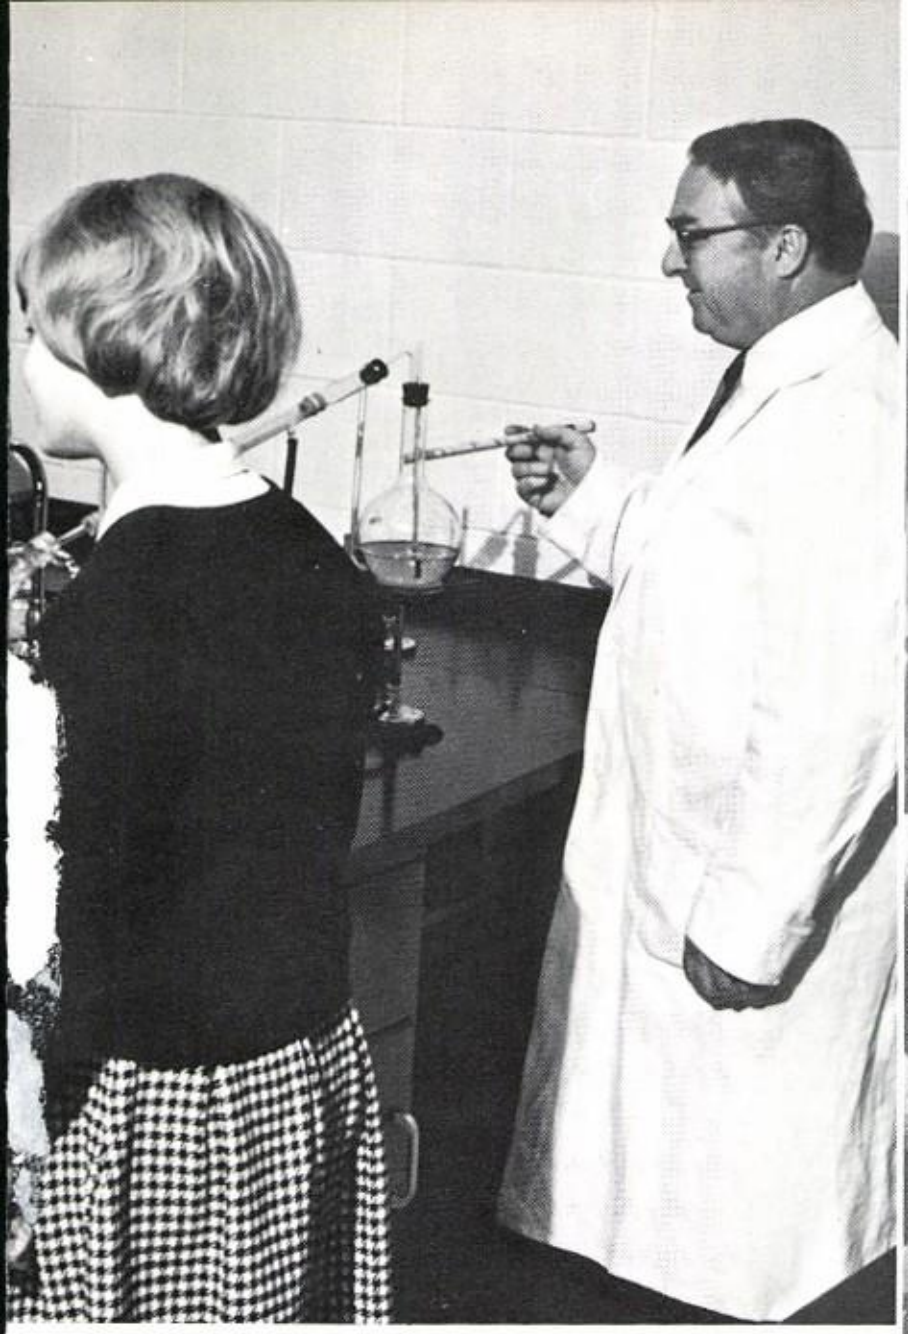


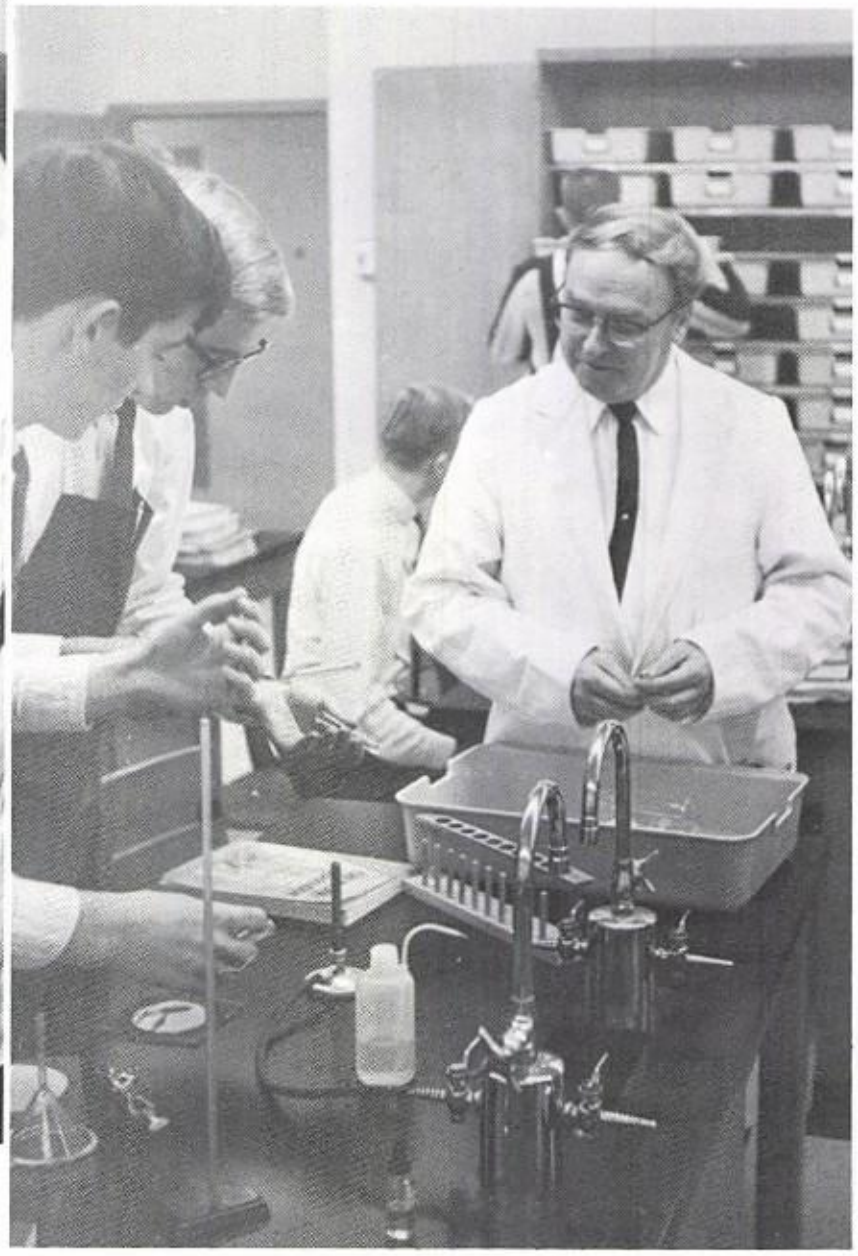
Mr. Waning gives Luke Derheimer a few tips in mechanical drawing while the rest of the class labor over their "masterpieces." How's it coming, Ken?

EXACTNESS PRODUCES . . .

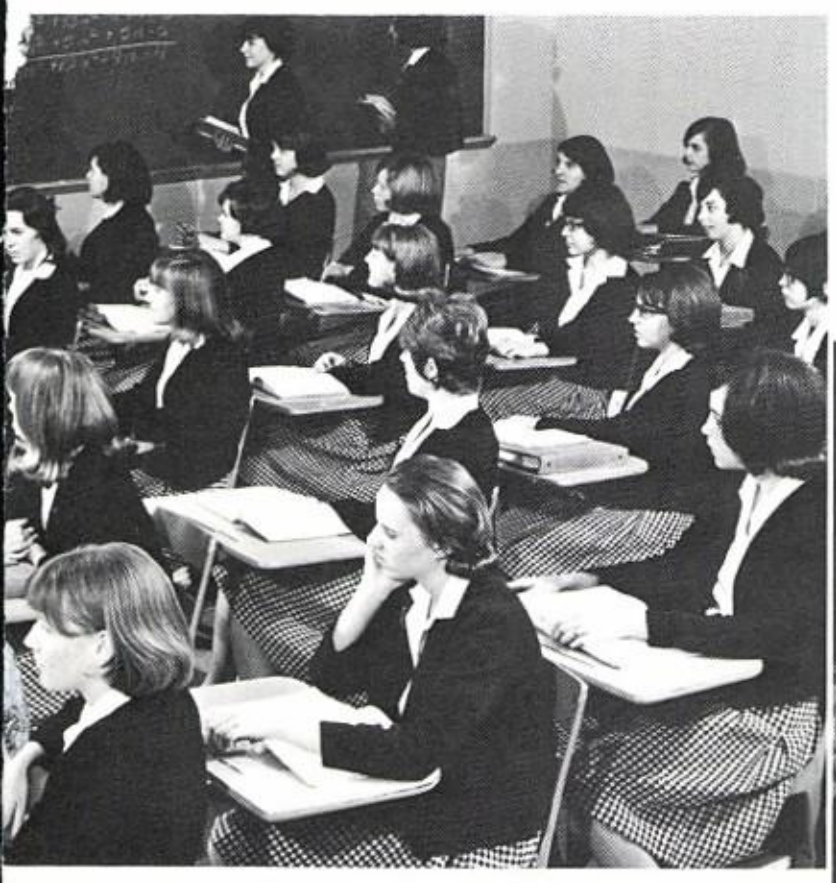


"Scholar" Jim Forbing reviews multiplication and division of trigonometric functions, as explained by instructor Dr. Ruiz.





ACCURATE ANSWERS AND GOOD GRADES



Above: Freshman girls gain a few tips from their instructor, Sister Hedwigis, as they learn new skills in Algebra.

COURSES EQUIP CITIZENS OF TOMORROW

Left: It's a lot of fun for Carolyn Pulver. She, Linda Schlink and Diane Schaab prepare an Italian dinner in class.

The home economics course, in its second year provides a semester in the management and preparation of foods. During the second semester the girls learn simple tailoring and advanced construction techniques in clothing.

Right: Many new concepts enter open minds in the animated discussion held in Sr. Susan's World History Class.

Right: Sister Jean appears a bit skeptical about the teaching ability of "Professor" Denny Loney.

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT OFFERS NEW CHALLENGE

Above: Ready, set, go! Is the usual sound which permeates the room as junior girls prepare to test their typing skills during three minute drills. Ready Anita?

Right: "Hen tracks" may be hard to read, but this shorthand class seems to be doing all right. Shorthand students at B.D.H.S. have a code of their own.

Listen to the "Sound of Music." Members of the B.D. Band. 1st ROW: G. Fosnaugh, E. Murach, S. France, D. Strack, K. Rye, M. Alter, C. Peterson, C. Simonis. 2nd ROW: T. McEntee, R. Rowley, W. Adams, S. Mahrt, C. Graney, J. Davis, D. Chandler, S. Opliger, J. Goodwin, R. Hope, T. Berner, M. Arata, R. Sordelet, G. Onz. 3rd ROW: P. Sunderland, R. Deinginger, B. Phelps, Mr. R. Brown, D. Dirig, D. Knight, J. France, M. Hess, B. Voors, J. Krouse, C. Vance, S. Hope, M. Ernst, M. Butters, M. Woods, P. Mavis.

INSTRUMENTAL, CHORAL AND CREATIVE ART

Orchestra, 1st ROW: D. Kitt, C. Graney, L. Derheimer, J. Keister, C. Till. 2nd ROW: K. Kinzler, L. Rodgers, D. Sollohub, J. Rosecrans, J. Gruber, M. Aberle, M. Till, K. Demetroff, C. Smith, and Sister M. Susan.

Dig that Dance Band! 1st ROW: E. Murach, R. Sordelet, C. Kast, G. Onz, W. Adams, J. Gospoderek, Mr. R. Brown, director. 2nd ROW: J. Davis, B. Opliger, S. Hope, J. Goodwin, M. Ernst, P. Mavis, M. Woods, M. Butters.

ENCOURAGED, AND ENJOYED AT BDHS

Above: Members of the girls' art class demonstrate their artistic ability by making mosaics of rice, seeds and various other materials.

Right: Jim Chamberlin executes a portrait in pastels as Sr. Angelene looks on. The boys' art class has used different media throughout the year, including acrylic paint, yarn, and balsa wood.

"Sing to the Lord!" Sister Susan directs the Concert Chorus. 1st ROW: M. Ankenbruck, R. Bosler, C. Lampke, D. Wagner, J. Roggy, N. Jones, P. O'Dowd. 2nd ROW: J. Sollohub, P. Ummel, B. Becker, L. Hullinger, G. Fosnaugh, D. Parnin, G. Hermann, L. Christian, L. Derheimer, L. Chandler, B. Neu. 3rd ROW: S. Opliger, A. Flaherty, L. Beckman, M. Dumask, D. Kitt, C. Ostman, T. Leuenberger, M. Evans, A. Parks, M. Dietsch, C. Pulver. 4th ROW: C. Graney, C. Rosswurm, L. Knight, A. Ferron, J. Stier, S. France, E. Murach, T. Lombardi, G. Leto, S. Dyer, S. Bugert, L. Schlink. 5th ROW: S. Dillon, Y. Pettit, J. Plasterer, K. Mettler, R. Walz, J. Casey, M. Shields, K. Reed, M. Brice, R. Clark, L. Rodgers, D. Schaab.

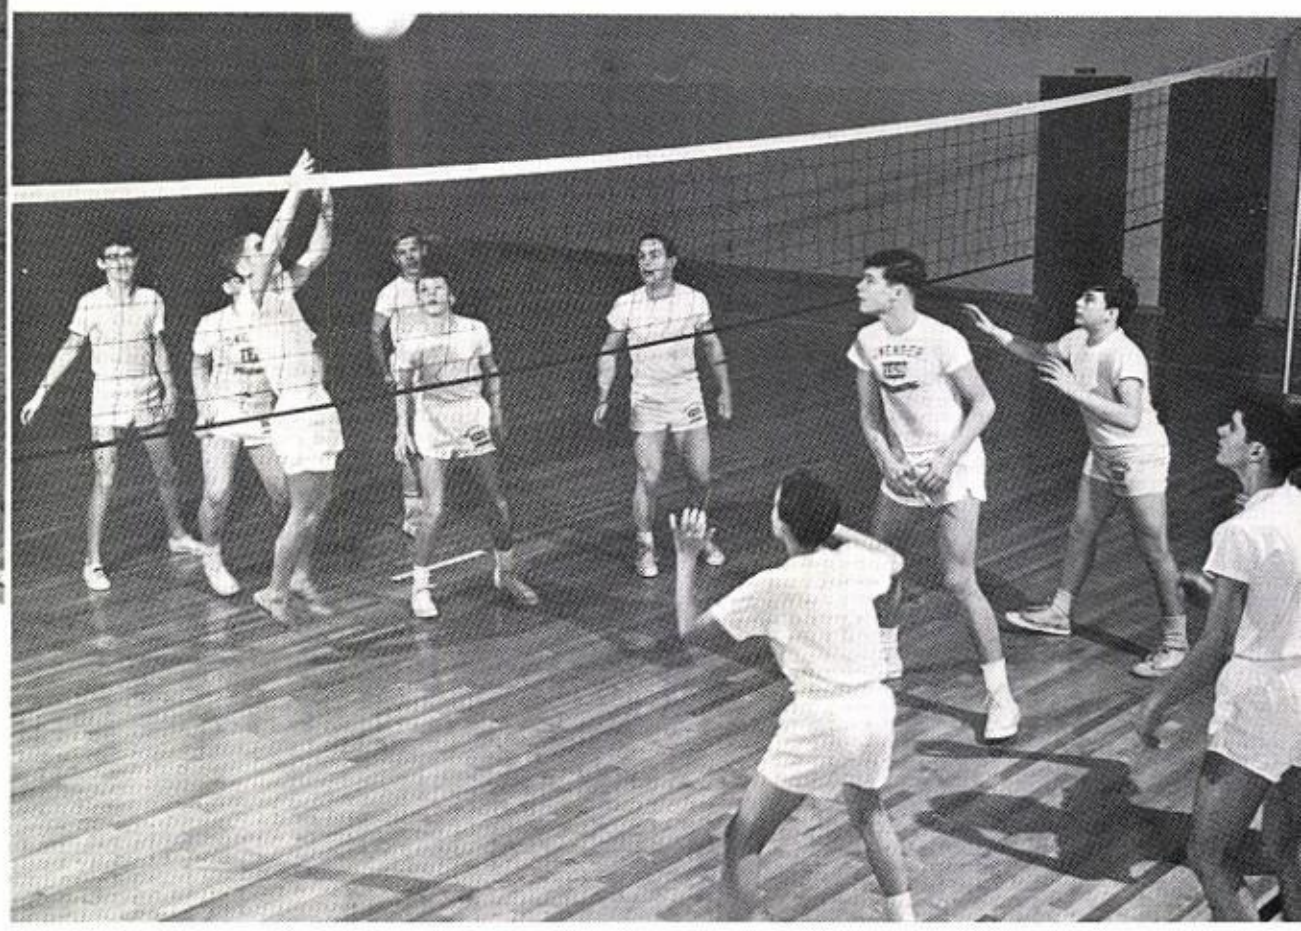
"SHAPING UP" IN PHYSICAL EDUCATION



Right: Up in the air and over the net! Volleyball is one of the many sports enjoyed by freshman and sophomore gym classes.

THE CLASS OF '67 CONTINUES ROLE AS FIRST CLASS OF BDHS!

Junior class officers ponder their responsibility before the Blessed Sacrament. Left to right: Terry Fiechter, president; Mike Russell, vice-president; Vicki Basconson, secretary; Ronnie Walz, treasurer.

JUNIORS—AND

Contemplating future ideals, Juniors, Anne Flaherty and Linda Christian, appear to be in a pensive mood.

A yellow sapphire set in gold adorns Dwenger's first class ring. The ring, fraught with symbolism, includes a chi rho on a sun depicting the spiritual world, and a globe the material world. A drop of blood signifies the Precious

Blood order of which Bishop Joseph Dwenger was a member. The dove, surmounting the fleur de lis, represents the Poor Handmaids of Jesus Christ and the book of knowledge, the academic aspects of Dwenger.

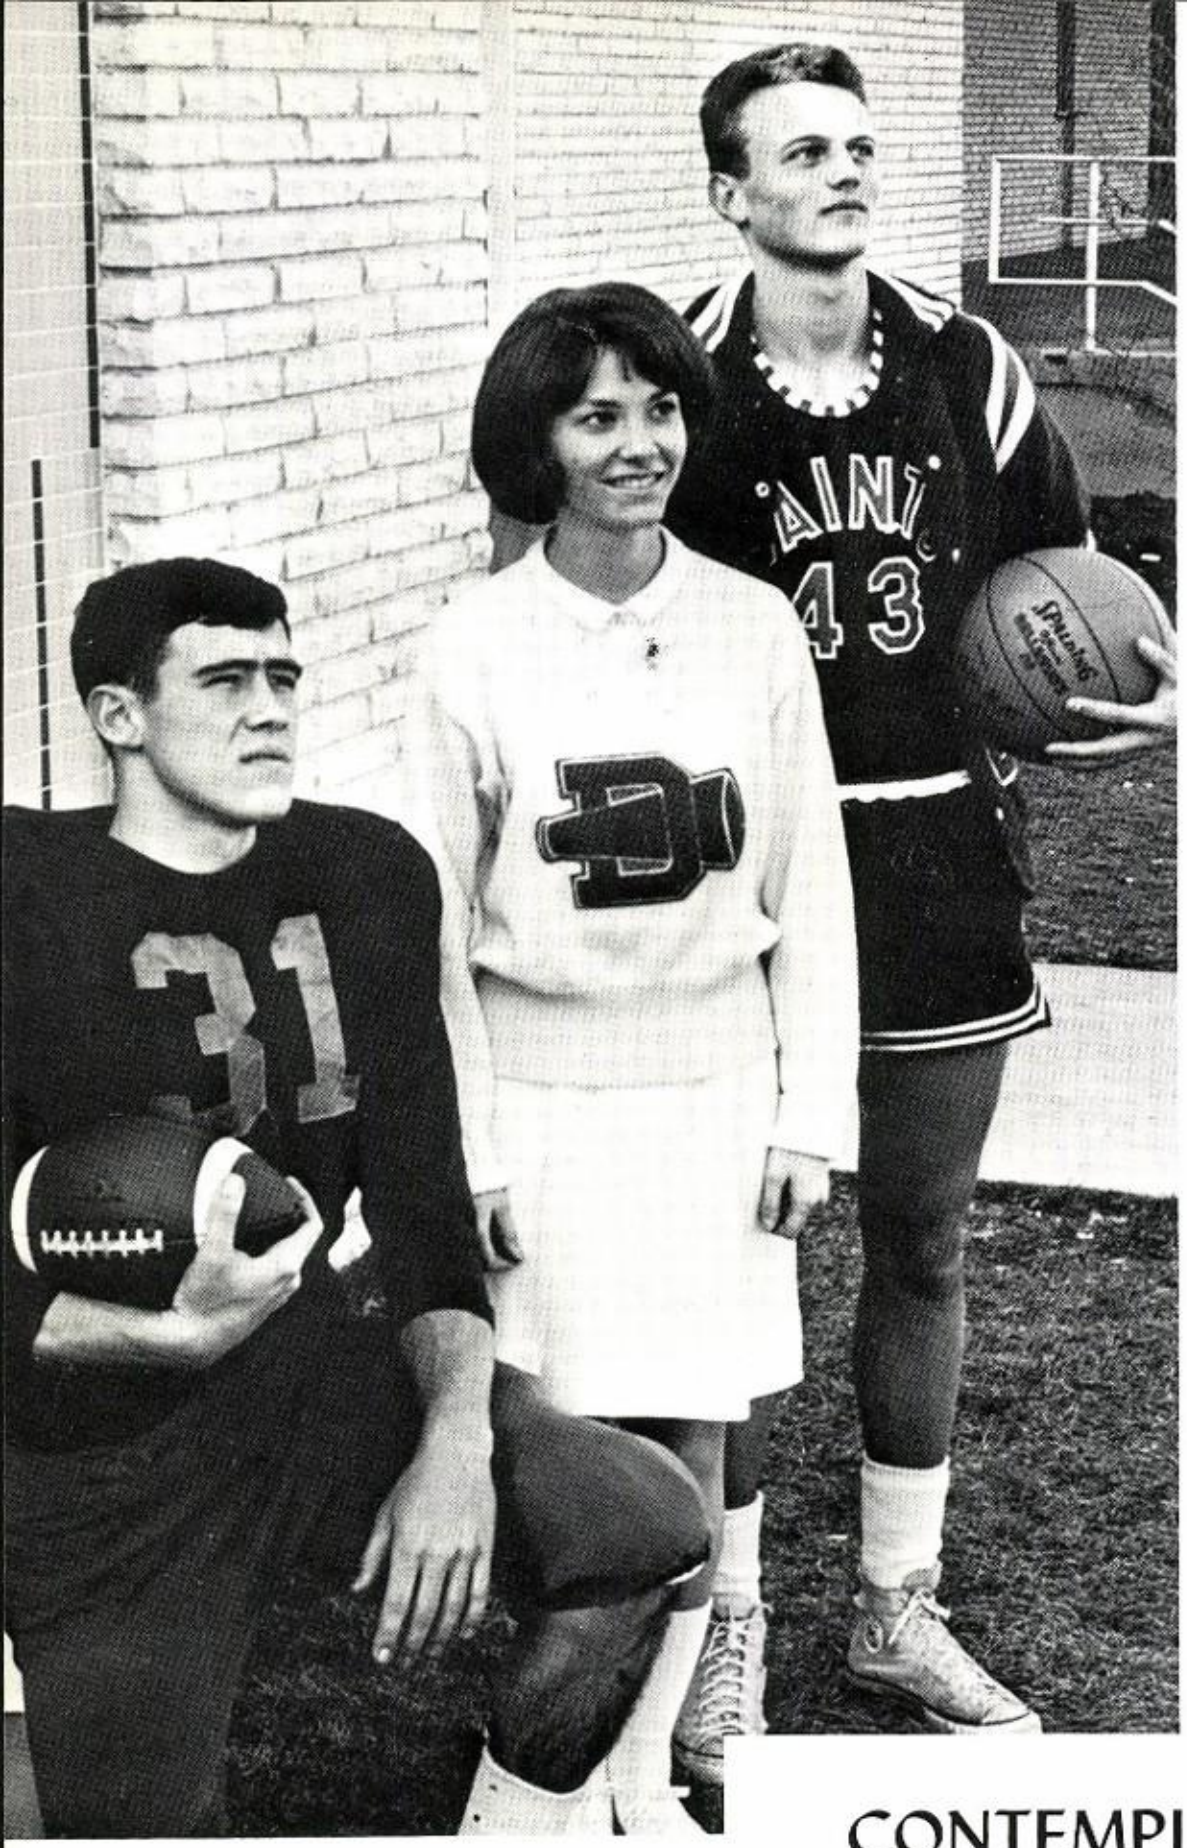
SECOND-YEAR Spanish
THE ADVENTURE OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE



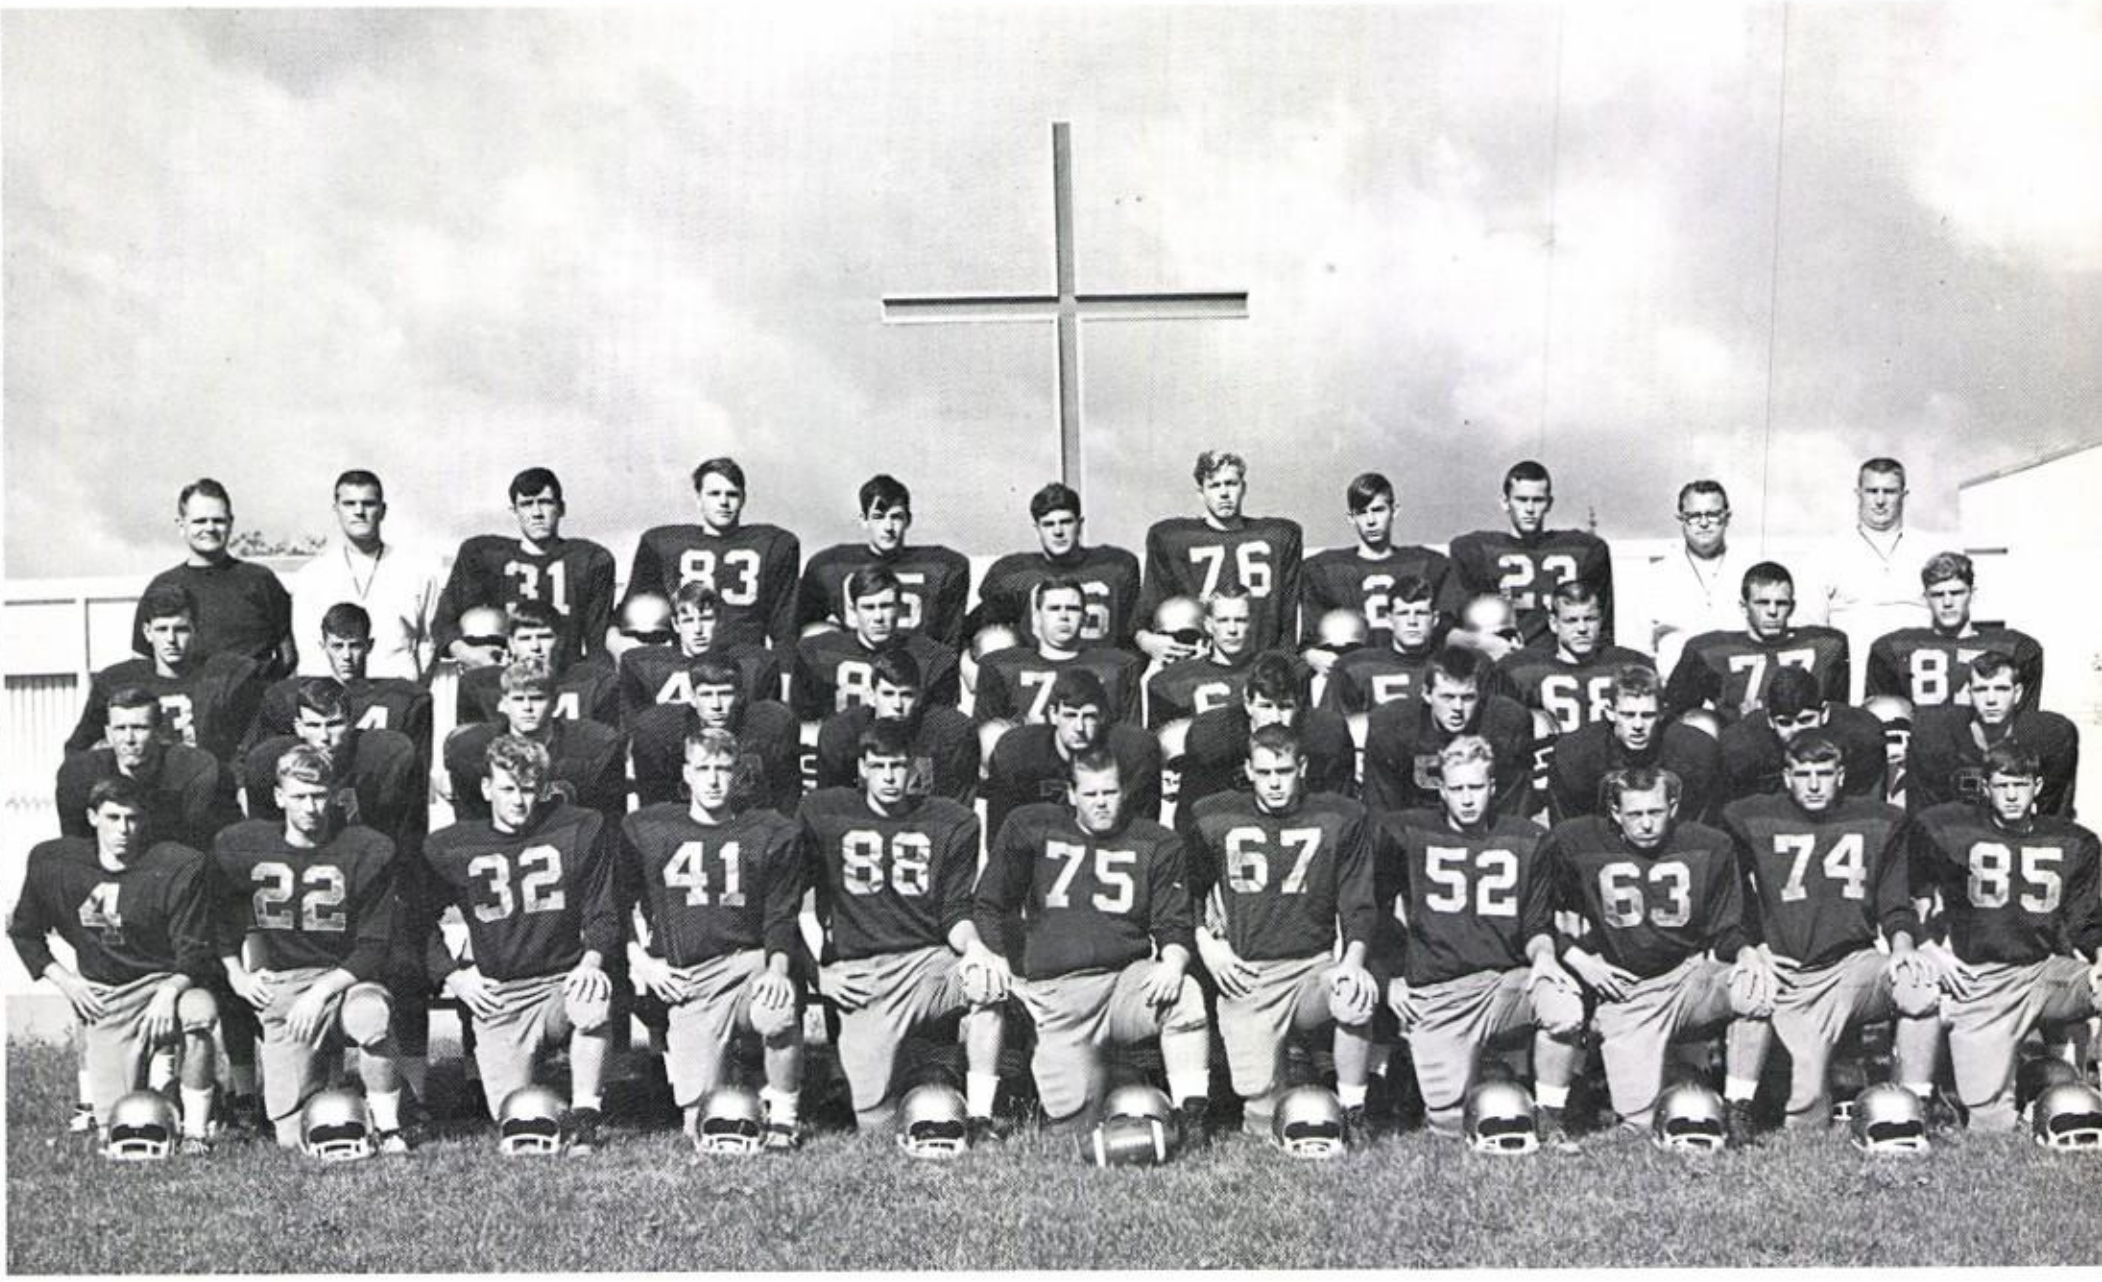
DWENGER ATHLETES

"Go, Saints, Go!" Only one other school in the nation, St. Gabriel on the West Coast, can cheer its team to victory with these words. Bishop Dwenger's tremendous spirit and endeavor towards athletic achievement highlighted the 1965-1966 competitive seasons. Leaders of the first Varsity year were Mike Shields, Mary Kay Evans and Jay Miller who exemplified outstanding determination and dedication.

Sports trophies for outstanding athletic abilities were awarded to Dave Scudder and Jay Miller, Below left:

Coach Haag made a presentation of trophies to Chuck Bayman and Ron Walz. Below right: These "Saints" represent the first varsity football team.

CONTEMPLATE FUTURE ADVERSARIES



VARSITY TEAM

PLAGUED SAINTS BATTLE INEXPERIENCE

The Saints, coached by "Bucky" Haag, experienced growing pains in their first season with a 1-8 win-loss record. Even though there were no Seniors aiding the cause, these boys gave everything they had while fighting for B.D. Regardless of the hard attitude displayed in the games, the boys had an appreciable attitude off the field. Their opponents were as worthy as any and the Saints are now counting the weeks until the return of the season.

B.D. fans are sensing a slightly eager, revengful attitude toward past persecutors. Dwenger is thirsty from the famine for victories, but now looks toward the future, "land of milk and honey."

The Freshmen Team, displaying great potential for the future is No. I in Allen County as well as in the state. They boast an undefeated season with an 8-0 record. These boys are setting a pace which could determine the hopeful outlook for the future. Their greatest incentive was the spirit of Rev. Walter Bly, who inspired the team to surmount all obstacles in meeting the challenges and to thunder on to victory. Because of the team's relentless hustle and tremendous spirit, it is a well established fact that the men will never put up the "White Flag."

SECTIONAL

Huntertown	53	68

The scores appear to be a "manslaughter" of B.D., but this defeat was score-wise only. In effort the SAINTS were "top-notch" and seldom showed a lack of discipline during the hard season. Their sportsmanship was worth a "king's ransom."

HOOSIER HYSTERIA SHAKES FOUNDATION

The story of Dwenger's 1965-1966 Basketball squad was one of spirit and great expectations, but the result was a heartache. The Saints employed a "second skin" defense, but never were able to sustain an effective attack. They therefore occupied the city's cellar with a 1-20 overall record. The main difficulty was a failure to win close games. Nevertheless B.D. fans continued to yell themselves hoarse again and again as the Saints tried desperately to mount up offensive steam. Rebounding the attitude of undaunted fans, "Waning's Men" displayed great hustle and spirit, undying enthusiasm and tremendous poise despite some tragic moments. Now that Coach Waning has a full returning team and much freshly-gained experience he hopes in the future to "bring home the bacon."

Saints look toward the future.

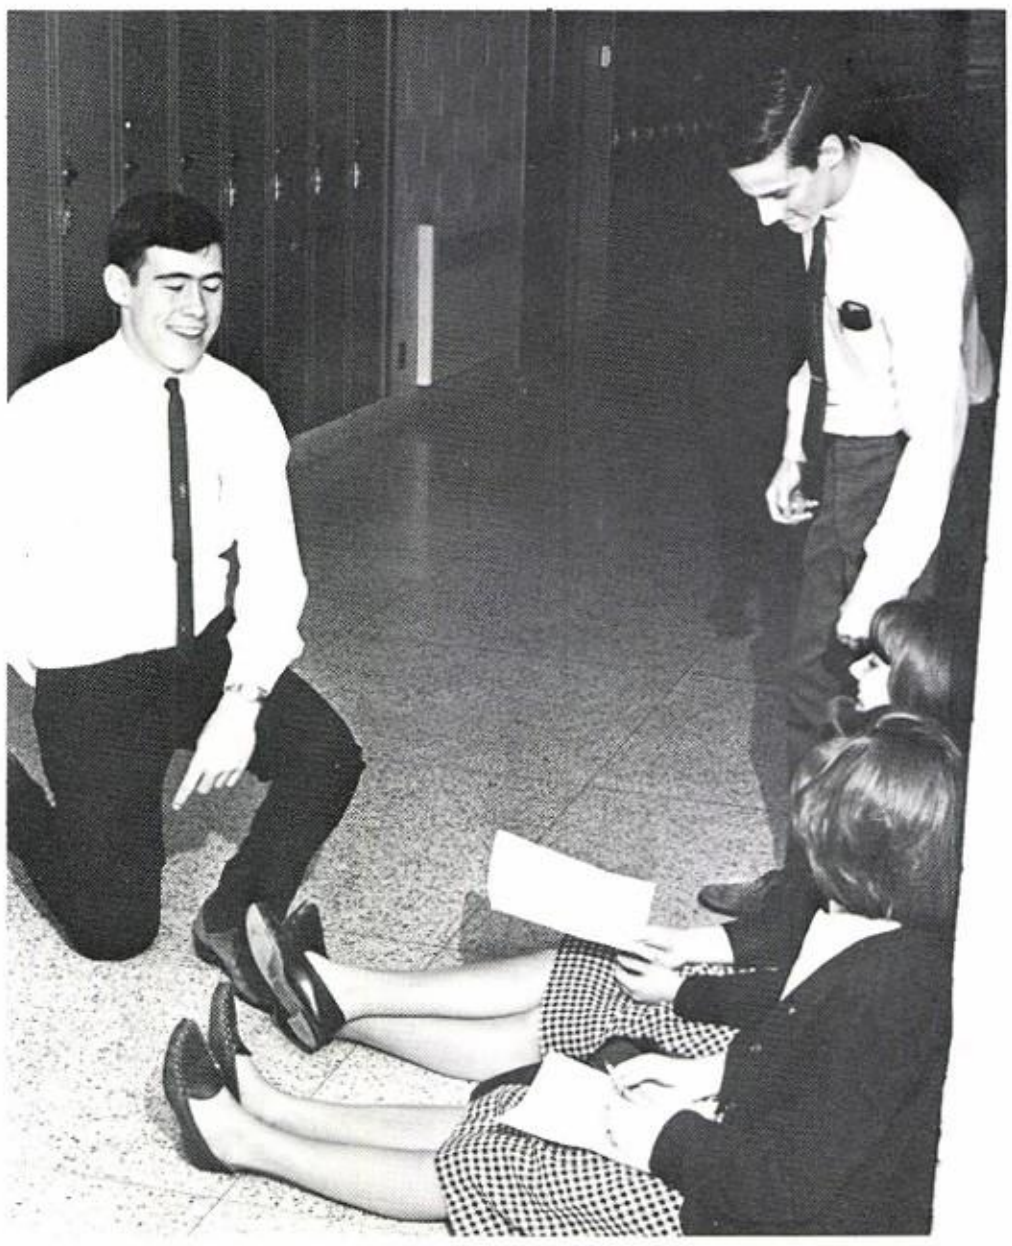
PUBLICATIONS INSPIRE SCHOOL SPIRIT

Special Thanks to the staff of "Golden Memories" who worked so diligently to make the Yearbook a successful one. Co-Editors Pamela Ummel and Jody Sollohub, sports editors Tony Intini and Jacqueline Hargis, page editors Darlene Gladieux, Cathy Schmitt, Diane Fortress, Barbara Fox, Frances Mannix, and typists, Chelle Goneau and Pam Bowers all helped to make the book a wonderful one for '66!



Right: Tired blood is the theme of this shot! Co-editors Pam and Jody relax with Mike Shields and Greg Fosnaugh after a hard day of aiding the photographer in taking pictures for the yearbook.
